Global workforce solutions leader recognized for advancing ethical business practices while helping organizations and individuals navigate unprecedented workplace transformation

MILWAUKEE, March 18, 2026 /PRNewswire/ -- ManpowerGroup announced today that it once again has been recognized as one of the World's Most Ethical Companies® by Ethisphere, a global leader in defining and advancing the standards of ethical business practices. This marks the 17th time ManpowerGroup has received the distinction, making it the most recognized company in the Staffing & Outsourcing Services industry.

"At a time when the world of work is undergoing its most profound transformation in generations, this recognition reflects our commitment to ensuring progress remains human-centered, guided by sound judgment and a strong, values-based foundation," said Jonas Prising, ManpowerGroup Chair & CEO. "As AI reshapes industries and the skills required for tomorrow's jobs evolve rapidly, our responsibility is clear: to help build a future of work that expands opportunity, strengthens resilience, and preserves the dignity of work."

"Ethics shows up in the moments that matter," Ruth Harper, ManpowerGroup Chief Marketing and Sustainability Officer, said. "When someone trusts us with their next job - or when a client trusts us with their workforce decisions - we protect their data, we use AI responsibly, and we provide fair and ethical talent practices. Thank you to our teams around the world for earning us this recognition again."

"Congratulations to ManpowerGroup for achieving recognition as one of the World's Most Ethical Companies®. As we mark the 20th class of honorees, this group continues to raise the bar for business integrity by embedding ethics into everyday decision-making and long-term strategy. Companies with strong ethics, compliance, and governance programs are built for better long-term performance," said Erica Salmon Byrne, Ethisphere's Chief Strategy Officer and Executive Chair.

The World's Most Ethical Companies® assessment is grounded in Ethisphere's proprietary Ethics Quotient®, which requires companies to provide 240+ documented proof points on practices that support robust ethics and compliance, including: corporate governance; program structure & resourcing; written standards; training, awareness, & communication; risk assessment & auditing; investigations, enforcement, discipline & incentives; measurement of ethical culture; third-party risk management, and environmental & social impact. That data undergoes further qualitative analysis by a panel of experts who spend thousands of hours vetting and evaluating each year's group of applicants. This process serves as an operating framework to capture and codify best-in-class ethics and compliance practices from organizations across industries and from around the world.

In 2026, 138 honorees were recognized spanning 17 countries and 40 industries. To view the full list of this year's World's Most Ethical Companies® and methodology, visit: worldsmostethicalcompanies.com/honorees.
